THE JOHN MARSHALL LAW REVIEW

The special 2010 symposium issue of the John Marshall Law Review will feature discussion of International Justice in the 21st Century in light of the emergence of the International Criminal Court (ICC). Past symposia have covered topics including Organizing & the Law and the Illinois Criminal Law Edit, Alignment, and Reform Initiative. This year's authors will address topics pertaining to the ICC, including the discretionary power of the ICC Prosecutor and cases before the court, the politics of international criminal prosecutions, the ICC's impact from both a normative perspective and as applied in specific cases, and the future of international criminal justice. Additionally, the symposium issue will feature special commentary from Robert Shenton French, Chief Justice of the Australian High Court.

The students who serve on the John Marshall Law Review's editorial board recognize the journal's role as an influential voice in the progression of the law and are proud that the journal is among the top 12 percent of most-cited American legal periodicals. The John Marshall Law Review is published four times a year, featuring innovative and inspiring academic legal works.

For ordering information, please contact our Managing Editor at 312.987.1415 or visit www.jmls.edu/lawreview.

For questions regarding the symposium, please contact our Executive Lead Articles Editor, John O'Connor, at 312.987.1415, or by e-mail at 5oconnorj@law.jmls.edu.
